

Risks	Low	Medium	High
Power Cut			Would Require the need to find another station to work at or to wait out the power cut, both options would result in a loss of work time and could result in work completed being less/lower than if not.
Internet Disconnect		All work could still be carried out; however, a few items would need to be postponed until internet returns. Version Control + Project management would be stunned (unable to upload to GitHub and unable to update Jira).
Eye strain	Long periods of time at a computer may result in eye strain and cause headaches. This wouldn't result in workflow massively impacted, would just require break management.
Timeframe			If unable to meet the timeframe to deliver all required properties of the project could result in an unfinished project.
Virus			On the event of the working device contracting an unforeseen virus, this could result in a loss of work, and a could cause a stun in workflow.
Physical Injury	A Minor Physical injury could result in a lack of work being done. If injury is not so severe. For example, a cut		A Major Physical injury could result in time off being needed. If injury is severe enough, for example broken bones
